Subject: Settlement Microsoft

I am against the proposed settlement in US vs. Microsoft. You should stop criminal behaviour by all means. You should never reward criminal monopolistic activities with a higher market penetration.

I think that if a small company had the behaviour of MS, the management would be punished with sending to prison. Why don't you do that with the MS management?

Maybe you can punish the MS management with the obligation of developing each application for multiplatform? (f.i. Apple and Linux)

Then you can minimise the effects of the present monopolism.

And all users would benefit with a higher degree of freedom.
